N. E. GENT IN FIRST TRIBUTE TO EDWARDS

Thousands View Body of Yankee Division Leader at State House

All New England paid final tribute to its greatest World War figure, Gen. Clarence B. Edwards, today with a minute's silence at 11 o'clock, as the "daddy" of the Yankee Division was laid to rest beside his wife and daughter at Arlington National Cemetery, Va.

It was a spontaneous tribute, although Governor Ely, speaking over the radio, had reminded the citizens of Massachusetts of their best opportunity for honoring the dead.

THOUSANDS PAY TRIBUTE
The thousands who had filed past the body in the Highways yesterday, to pay a last farewell, the thousands who lined the streets as the flag-draped caulk was borne to the Washington train and the thousands of others in whose hearts the memory of "Daddy" Edwards is forever enshrined, all joined in this honor at the funeral home.

As the body was borne on a flag draped caulk from the State House to the South Station, 50,000 persons crowded the streets. There were few dry eyes among the thousands who lined the streets, waiting to pass in silence before the caulk. Many of the men were in uniform, and many of the women were in mourning. The caulk was borne to the Washington train and the thousands of others in whose hearts the memory of "Daddy" Edwards is forever enshrined, all joined in this honor at the funeral home.

Vatican City, Feb. 16.—(Receiving Linton) curates today, Pope Pius XI noted several complaints against the Italian government and urged the curates to carry on agitation in favor of better application by the Italian state of the terms of the Lateran treaties.

The pontiff, in a speech in the curates, declared that insufficient government action is being taken against immorality and that no attempts are being made to break the Sabbath.

KEITS FILM PROPAGANDA
Many moving picture exhibitors in the city are objecting to the showing of a new Italian anti-Semitic character and he urged that steps be taken to rectify the situation.

He pointed out that the terms of the Lateran treaties, which provide for the preservation of the character of Rome, are being strictly carried out.

KE STANDS PUBLIC

Now Charges the Small Concerns Are Hit and the Hotels Reap Profit

The City Council entered the taxicab controversy today by authorizing legislation to be filed compelling the designation of all taxi stands on public thoroughfares as public stands.

Under suspension of the rules, the council adopted an order introduced by Councilman John D. Dowd of Roxbury authorizing its legislative committee to prepare and file the legislation.

BENEFITS 5 COMPANIES
Councilman Dowd, acting on his order, said the legislation passed last year was supposed to benefit all taxi drivers, but it proved helpful to only the two large companies.

He said that as a result the taxi situation in the city is in an awful muddle.

The new law will go into effect Feb. 1, and provided for the re-allocation of all taxi stands, with a more complete method of registering drivers and cabs.

HOTELS ARE PROFITED

Independent drivers declared that because the re-allocation of taxi stands they had held for years, Councilman Dowd said that the new system, although contrary to law, gave large hotels in the city a monopoly of taxi stands.

HOME TO REST

Yet there was born the thought that here, at last, a man came home to rest. His work well done, and his life well lived, he was laid to rest in the Arlington National Cemetery.

One said the thought that the two he joined would share this final rest with the boys who had fought for a word and a handclasp as they trooped in.

In this day beneath the sun that breathed of spring, the old man came to his rest.

The volunteers through the huge rain clear in front of the house of the battle dead, the boys who had fought for a word and a handclasp as they trooped in.

And down the hill, the boys who had fought for a word and a handclasp as they trooped in.

Latest Styles in Bread Meet Needs of Today

Fashions have changed in breads. No longer do we struggle with the lengthy processes of old-time bread-making—kneading—rising—baking. These methods have been long ago with home-made root beer and raspberry shrub. Nowadays we make dairy sandwiches of bread, biscuits—crunchy cinnamon and cheese squares—tiny muffins that can be made in no time at all.

Then there are the top-of-the-line breads—scones—Jenny Lind pancakes—waffles—that we bake as our friends watch and marvel. These are the breads that meet our needs today when all things are simpler. Fastidious, elaborate meals are as out of date as 1880 slaves.

For Sunday night suppers, we serve waffles with melted butter and maple syrup. Fruit salad and jelly finger aids or coffee. For lunch, French toast with applesauce or maple syrup.

For tea, there is hot buttered toast, jelly fingers (if you haven't tried this last item, dot me give you the where and what price). The later evening, preserves, tiny rolls, biscuits and ginger ale.

For tea, there is hot buttered toast, jelly fingers (if you haven't tried this last item, dot me give you the where and what price). The later evening, preserves, tiny rolls, biscuits and ginger ale.

Do give them a chance—these foods of today—help you solve your problems. Here is the "how" of the cheese squares.

CHEESE SQUARES
2 cups bread flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
Paprika
A generous cup milk
1 tbsp. butter
1/2 cup dairy cheese put through food chopper
Sift the dry ingredients, work in the shortening, keeping the mixture flaky, add the milk—enough to make a medium stiff dough. Knead in the butter, making it a scant half-inch thick. Dot with the butter, with the cheese, dust with paprika and bake 20 minutes in a hot oven. Cut in squares and serve at once.

NUT AND FRUIT WHIRLS
2 cups bread flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup vegetable shortening
1 cup butter
1/2 cup light brown or scraped maple sugar
3/4 cup milk
1/2 cup chopped nuts (any kind)
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped candied orange peel
1/2 cup chopped citron
2 level tbsp. coffee
Sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Rub in the butter, keeping the mixture flaky. Add the egg and milk and roll into an oblong about a scant half-inch thick. Sprinkle the butter, spread it evenly to the edges, sprinkle with the fruit and nuts mixed, add the sugar, and roll the jelly roll. Cut in 1/2 inch slices and place cut side down on a buttered baking pan lined with paper. Bake 25 to 30 minutes.

BUTTERSCOTCH ROLLS
Sift 2 cups flour, 4 level baking powder and 2 1/2 tsp. salt; add 4 eggs, shortening, mixing it with a fork. If liquid shortening is used, add with milk. Add milk or water to make a fairly stiff dough (about 2 1/2 cups). Knead slightly and roll out 1/2 inch thick. Spread well with butter. Sprinkle with the flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Rub in the butter, keeping the mixture flaky. Add the egg and milk and roll into an oblong about a scant half-inch thick. Sprinkle the butter, spread it evenly to the edges, sprinkle with the fruit and nuts mixed, add the sugar, and roll the jelly roll. Cut in 1/2 inch slices and place cut side down on a buttered baking pan lined with paper. Bake 25 to 30 minutes.

MUSTARD CAN PEPU FOOD
Thousands of housewives daily face the problem of how to make old familiar dishes taste like something they aren't. The French are masters of this art, and one of their precious secrets is the art of flavoring—of using just the merest suspicion of spicy seasoning, and behold a new and appetizing taste. At big hotels where dainty restaurateurs are insisted on, cooks add golden drops of mustard in preparing appetizing vegetables and delicious meats.

And any housewife can learn this secret. Look for your favorite brand of mustard often used and demonstrated in the Martha Lee School of Practical Cookery. It's so simple, you see. Any housewife, in her own kitchen, can use this flavoring and mustard as easily as the great chefs in the world's most famous hotels.

You have long used it on the table to spread on meats and sandwiches. Why not try it in the kitchen for use in cooking? When roasting or broiling meats, spread a layer of this finely spiced mustard on the meat, or mix generously with vegetable sauce. You will be delighted with the difference in taste, sensation and your family's appetite and enjoyment of food will increase. Shall I tell you the name? Just drop me a line at 5 Winthrop St., and I'll be glad to.

Negro Women Found Slain in Apartment
New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The slaying of three Negro women, mother, sister and daughter, and the death by starvation of an 11-month-old baby girl, mystified Sunday police. Summoned by a youth who got no response to his knocks, a patrolman broke into the door of the apartment in Harlem and found the bodies. One victim's throat had been cut and the others had been strangled to death.

Spider Corn Bread

cream butter and brown sugar. Roll up for jelly roll; cut into one-inch pieces. Stand on end in well-buttered rim pan or small greased muffin tray. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 15 minutes. Pecan nuts may be sprinkled in before rolling. Makes 12 rolls or 22 if baked in small tins.

SPIDER CORN BREAD
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 cup cornmeal
1/2 cup flour
2 tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. shortening

Beat egg and add 1 cup milk; stir in cornmeal, flour, sugar, salt and baking powder, which have been sifted together; turn into frying pan in which shortening has been melted; pour on remainder of milk, but do not stir. Bake about 25 minutes in hot oven. There should be a thin, crumbly crust around through the middle. Cut in triangles and serve hot.

MARATHA FINDS CRAB MEAT DISHES MOST PLEASING

Most modern housewives, even the healthiest cooks, have an emergency shelf of canned goods, but not all of us perhaps use these materials to the best advantage. While we are more or less used to thinking of crab salad and other crab dishes as belonging almost exclusively to summertime fare, crab meat can be used delightfully in the winter menu and is one of the pleasantest ways we know of to make the so-important winter salad easy to eat.

Great stress I don't have to stress the goodness and healthfulness of Japanese crabmeat, because old friends of the column know what favorite this particular shellfish is with us, so without any more preamble, I'm going to repeat for the benefit of your scrapbook the recipes I have taken up at the Martha Lee School of Practical Cookery and demonstrated in my class by the young lady in the picture today.

CRAB SALAD LOAF
1 cup Japanese crabmeat
1 cup cabbage
1 cup celery
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup gelatin
Cut up crabmeat into small pieces. Chop celery and cabbage. Whip the cream and add the mayonnaise and gelatin which has been dissolved in water. Combine with celery, cabbage and crab. Place in well moist and chill thoroughly. Serve on lettuce leaves.

And here's another delicious crab recipe—Crab à la Newburg, as served up the Northern Pacific railroad trains. This recipe came to me through the courtesy of Mr. M. M. Goodrich, G. P. A. of the Northern Pacific railroad.

CRAB A LA NEWBURG
2 cups Japanese crabmeat
A pinch of cayenne
3 tbsp. of Goussier cooking sherry
1 oz. butter
4 oz. button mushrooms
2 egg yolks
1 cup cream
1 tsp. flour
Remove bones from two cups of Japanese crabmeat. Place crab, mushrooms and butter in a hot

7000 Arrested in Turk Revolt Plot

London, Feb. 16 (AP)—A new plot to restore the Turkish Caliphate was nipped in the bud today when police arrested some 7000 subjects, according to advice from Istanbul.

The arrests occurred in the Macedonia region, the dispatches add.

Two weeks ago 25 persons were hanged at Menemen for their part in the December uprising against the government of Kemal Pasha.

Cake Popular With All

"Cut yourself a piece of cake and make yourself at home!" To any modern phrase, and one which reflects the happy ease of modern hospitality. And who wouldn't revel in hospitality with the new delightful cakes which come in individual cuts, fresh, delicate and yummy! Ready to serve at dinner with your finest ice cream, or as a consolation and reward for the heavy bridge players, with raisins, covered with coconut and cream filling, or lightly frosted with rich chocolate, there is a kind for every tooth—and I've only mentioned three of the many you can buy in your favorite grocery shop.

It's just on the tip of my typewriter to tell you right out, who makes these little beauties, but, of course, I can't, so I will have to be patient until I get your note or postcard asking for the information. But I know it won't be long, and I'll be only too glad to share the secret with you all. Remember, Martha Lee, 5 Winthrop St., Boston American, "here all, know all, tell all"—in the cooking world.

The pageant will pass in review before Mayor Walker following a battle formation over Manhattan.

The Familiar Biege Comes Back

By ANN ARDEN

PATOU, who always excels in promoting the unexpected, believes in beige and features it for midseason. This attractive color, which has so long been on a furlough, now appears in serviceable little woolen dresses, as well as those for more formal occasions.

It appears that the spring season is going to be one exploiting colors for all, since there is such apparent coming favor for bright colors, pastels, grays—and now beige. Beige, of course, lends itself to inspired color symphonies with brown shades.

WHEN A frock can be unusually chic for more than one reason, it is indeed a triumph, and the charming model pictured here claims to amass on two-piece styling, the unusual beauty of its fabric, and the perfection of its details. A dressy sport frock, the model is wool embroidered georgette in a lovely beige tone. The skirt is circular in front; the over-bust has slant pockets each with a semi-erect neckline, and narrow cuffs of plain georgette, with row of beige buttons ascending center front. The belt is of gold metal.

THE AGNES hat is a beige Milan tan, light across front, draped low on sides, to fold at center back. Brown velvet ribbon is run through slits finished with knot and end right.

THIS BEASON's frock is chosen for its particular place in the dress scheme, its details being to be just so, and the hemline must not be an inch too short or too long! It does make buying a dress far more exciting, though, when a rare and a half of material almost make a costume. For the afternoon bride or evening party the longer skirt is considered correct. Frocks for such affairs parade all their feminine wiles of the moment. Fabrics are rich, intricate details abundant—and if you can't feel a bit superior it isn't the frock's fault!

A COSTUME without a belt these days is almost as bad as a ship without a rudder—it loses its chic bearing! This belted trend has brought the separate belt in leather back to fashion. A severe belt like the black patent one is a tubular belt such as Longon appears. It has an interesting reversed buckle and is made of the same material as the dress. It is a hand carved buckle of shaded green crystal. Beads held with applique in color to contrast with the frock are smart.

Editorial on Extra Phone Calls Please

Editor Boston American:

I enjoyed your editorial on "Turn the Leaves of Memory" in these days of "What can they leave us alone?" but the New York Times, which is a paper of better quality than our own, published the following editorial:

"We investigated and soon found out that the Telephone Company was illegally collecting only a million or so dollars a year from its customers by just such methods as your editorial criticizes."

I have heard that investigation, but never heard of again. "OUR GOVERNMENT" by HERBERT JACKSON, Hyde Park

Chaplin's New Picture Please the Dead

Editor Boston American:

Charlie Chaplin's silent picture coming to a local theater next week with cause delighting the dead. I hope that picture will pay well for all of a similar nature.

Deaths and funerals should be 50-50 in my opinion. Let me tell to those who wish to know us dead in our right in the matter of entertainment, let us talk to us as we like an invitation to a big dandy supper, with a fine table spread, but no eating forthcoming.

Calls Clerks Lay For Distinguishing

Editor Boston American:

Passing through a downtown store I came across salesmen who were selling underwear. They were doing everything except selling underwear. I was writing the theory of the fifth dimension. If they hadn't been downtown last they would have been telling the world of the vicious merits of the League of Nations or why Hoover alone can save America.

That's the great trouble with this country. People are too lazy. Some are even too lazy to get their wives a second job and ruin themselves. And again: Some people are never satisfied. They suppose these salesmen were demons. Why didn't they get at it at 31.31? Why didn't they feel service if they receive a pitance? Great men have had low beginnings. Andy Mellon's ancestors once were poor (when he was a kid). P. J. LOGUE, Boston.

$10,000 From Uncle Sam

$30,000 From Business

George Akerson, able and genial secretary to President Hoover, gives four good reasons for quitting his post in Washington and going into business.

Three of the reasons are shown in this little snapshot. They are, respectively, George, Jr., Charles and Fred.

As secretary to the President, Mr. Akerson made $10,000 a year. In his new job, with headquarters in New York, he begins at a salary of from $20,000 to $30,000.

Ten thousand dollars would be too big a salary for the average man, but even thirty thousand is a small salary for the RIGHT man.

Big business can pay, and does pay, any amount to the man it needs. In that respect, it is wiser than the Government.

The Government, which means the public, pays its servants about a third of what business would pay them. Then it wonders why many of its servants are inefficient, or corrupt, or lazy.

It also wonders why the best men in its service usually get out and take private positions. The answer is that the best men cannot afford to work for the Government.

Not until Government pay equals private pay will really able men work for the Government, and not until then will government be anything but a huge, wasteful and inefficient machine.

You can't get full work for half wages.

For T. B. Victims

Stay Near Home

Good news for tuberculosis patients, their families and friends:

It is not necessary to go to Arizona or to New Mexico to be cured. In fact, proper treatment in a good sanatorium near home is usually more advantageous than a change of climate.

This is on the authority of the United States Public Health Service, which, in a recent statement, explodes many popular fallacies about T. B.

"There are unusual cases, or in a hundred, perhaps," says the bulletin, "when a change actually is needed, but most frequently it is to escape hot weather. Cold usually is desirable. Many persons have lost their lives by going to desert places, where they camped out or lived in a boarding house or sought a light job. They might have secured the money had been invested in proper treatment near home."

"Rest, instead of travel; good food, rather than scenery, are the important things. If proper food and nursing are available near home, and not elsewhere, the best climate is best, even though it may be the worst in the world."

Sugar Coating the Pill

For Children

Sensible parents try to teach their children the habit of saving. Normal children, unfortunately, show little enthusiasm for thrift. There is more fun in spending a nickel for candy than dropping it in a toy bank. This is little pleasure in the knowledge that the five dollars an indulgent uncle has given for a birthday present is going to be held away in a savings account.

Out of sight, out of mind, the child's way of looking at it. The thrift pill may be sugar-coated, however, if parents use a little imagination. One good way is to open an account in the child's name at a savings bank and then take him with you to see the money turned over to the banker and the credit entered in the bank book. Children are interested in this grown-up method of doing business, and their pride is appeased with each deposit and the interest payments.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

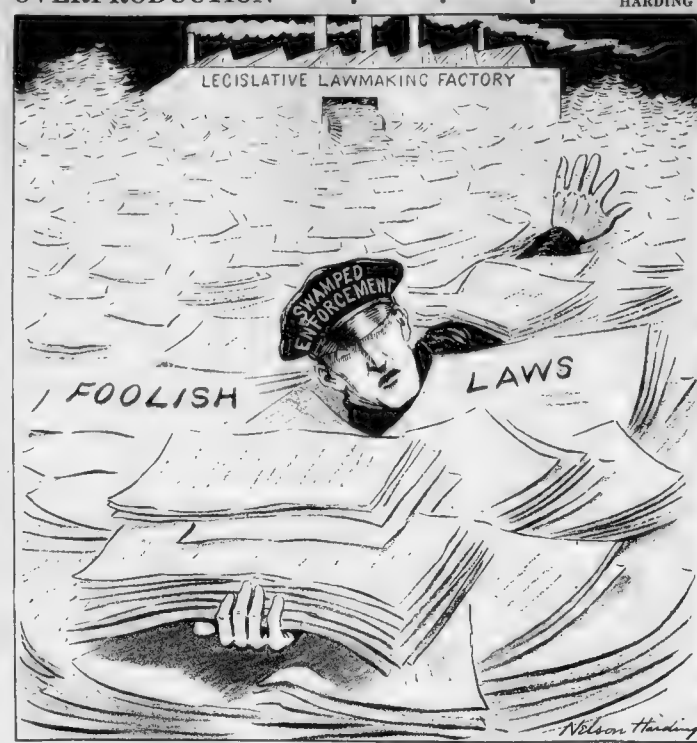

Unsuspected Truths
A HE-MAN is one who never refers to himself as a "he-man."

Lots is larned—extincted with love, charged with enthusiasm, colored with imagination and flavored with love.

There are three secrets which every man who loves a woman never tells. The date of her birth, the story of the man who "got away" and her real opinion of the man she loves.

Perhaps the reason why mystery breeds mystery is that men and women are becoming more and more popular with men in business.

Modern
Peeps

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Diary of a modern Peep: Up and James Montgomery Flagg dropped in and sketched me in charcoal, the most perfect likeness I ever beheld. Yet it seemed unnecessary for Flagg, happening by, to peek over my shoulder and exclaim: "What a morbid palette!"

So to breakfast with H. N. Swanwick, editor of the College Humor, who could talk nothing but his p's and q's.

Miss Ruth Taylor, a fair maid of Kansas City, for a year and a half will purchase her ticket to Mexico.

Leon Gordon, the portrait painter, has transferred the indecipherable charms and patois of Miss Helen Keller to canvas, the sittings taking place at her home at Forest Hills, Long Island.

Do you know?
H. N. and a publisher about found a 10 dollar bill in an old bill fold and off went my wife to the news rack. Then along Broadway, deciding to walk five blocks north, turn right and dine in the first restaurant. It was Russian and pretty terrible.

The actor's forlornness has long been a topic for badinage among theater improvisers who long after the Lamb's. There is that story of workmen descending upon West 44th street one night and making a deep gully in the thoroughfare in search of a broken conduit. Someone approached William Collier, standing on the Lamb's steps.

"What's the idea of tearing things up this way?" he asked.

"Dave Warfield lost a nickel," replied Collier.

The Nose Dive of Silver

By Mervyn S. Ruker

Silver, long a symbol of economic controversy, returns to plague the business stability of the world.

The plunge of the demoralized metal to the lowest price level in history contributes violently to international depression. Charles J. Bullock, head of the Harvard Economic Society, has characterized the collapse of silver as a world calamity.

The Harvard savant takes the view that the trade of the outside world with Asia will continue to suffer as long as the price of silver declines.

The extent of the setback in silver may be measured by the fact that an ounce of gold is now worth 79 cents of silver. In 1896, William Jennings Bryan urged the free and unlimited coinage of silver in the ratio of sixteen to one.

Silver declined in price 33 per cent during 1930, and another 12 per cent thus far in 1931.

As a result of war time conditions, silver climbed as high as $1.38 in 1919. From that point, there was a gradual decline to 87 1/2¢ toward the end of 1928, and to 47¢ in 1929. At the end of 1930, the price was 30 1/2¢. Last week (February 6) it slumped to 28 1/2¢.

Strangely enough, the demoralization of the silver market does not spring primarily from overproduction, or even from maladjusted production. The demand for silver takes care pretty well of the current output, which declined 6 per cent in 1930.

The virtual panic in the silver market results mainly from the changing attitude of the leading governments toward silver as a monetary substance.

The almost universal disposition to regard gold as the sole monetary base has induced governments throughout the world to unload accumulated supplies of silver.

The present impulse toward weakness in silver originated in London and, curiously enough, Great Britain is the greatest sufferer from the damage done to world trade. In December, 1929, the British treasury found a means of adding to its available resources by debasing its subsidiary silver coinage from a fineness of 0.925 to 0.800. This new fashion was quickly followed by France, Belgium and other continental countries.

The process of debasement of silver coins was in reality a renewal of the movement to lower the prestige of silver as a monetary unit, which started in Germany between 1873 and 1875.

After the war, the British treasury took steps to get India off the silver standard. In its efforts since 1926 to get on a gold standard, India has been a heavy seller of silver in order to acquire gold or its equivalent on the London market.

Meantime, in the last two years, Indo-China, a French colony, switched from silver to gold. The melting down of its old silver mintage made available for sale in the world market 50,000,000 ounces of the white metal.

Although strictly speaking, only China, Abyssinia and a few minor countries are on the silver standard, silver is treasured as a means of exchangeable wealth in most parts of Latin America and in the Orient. The technical change in the Indian currency system, for example, does not preclude the use of silver coins in ordinary trade.

Naturally, the unprecedented sustained weakness in the silver market has hurt those who mine, refine, and deal in the metal.

But as a matter of public policy, the silver industry as such cannot expect any more paternal aid from government than the other sick commodities, including copper and lead.

Silver, however, is not merely participating in the general reduction of commodity prices.

It is also adjusting itself to its new status as a monetary base of declining importance among metals.

If silver were to be used solely in the industrial arts, even the present greatly depressed prices would be too high.

Yet such a revolutionary change in the status of silver is practically possible as an ultimate development, is not yet at hand.

The great inert millions of toilers in the Orient, who barely eke out a living wage, do not alter their age-long habits quickly, as governments change their minds.

In India, as in China, silver is the medium for saving, the store of value for the multitudes, the treasured possession of hundreds of millions of coolies and uneducated.

The practical significance of the international world trade is that nearly half the world's population recognizes that the real value of their savings—stored in silver bars and trinkets—has greatly shrunk in recent months.

Feeling poorer, these people are reluctant to buy freely. Thus, from the standpoint of immediate effects, the instability of silver adds to the vicious forces making for world depression.

Though governments should avoid interfering with economic law, it seems that in the case of silver they have themselves beguiled, if not caused, the demoralization by uncontrolled unloading, at unpropitious times, of white metal released by debasement of silver coins.

Accordingly, silver specialists, including Francis H. Brownell, chairman of the American Smelting and Refining Company, urge that the various governments which buy or sell silver make an informal agreement looking toward more orderly marketing conditions.

The specific proposal is that the government at Bombay, which has been the most desirous of silver, should announce that hereafter it will cease selling except above a stated minimum price, such as 35 cents an ounce—which is some nine cents above the present market.

It is also suggested that other governments which followed the precedent set by England a decade ago of reducing the silver content of subsidiary coinage and thus releasing quantities of the precious metal for sale, desist from liquidating further accumulated stocks of silver for a stated period of time.

Furthermore, if the governments could be induced to make their usual purchases of silver for new coins at times when the price falls below the agreed minimum, there would be support for the plan.

In connection with the Brownell plan, which, if adopted, would tend to check the panic in silver, the difficulties of getting agreement among various nations for a stated period of time.

A similar attempt was unsuccessfully made in 1903 at a conference at St. Petersburg. Before delegates returned to their respective countries, however, national repulsive forces became operative.

The stabilization plan would at least emphasize that the silver market has a bottom—for the near term future.

It would also suggest that the prevailing tendency of the more backward countries to hoard gold mined.

'QUEEN OF SHOPLIFTERS' IS JAILED FOR YEAR

Husband Balks at Being Boiled

WIFE TELLS ANOTHER TALE

Declares Her Clothing Was Torn Off by Male, Who Made Death Threats

William A. Palmer didn't mind, he said, being hit with the refuse pail so much, he was only comparatively ruffled when she whizzed a mop across the room at him, and he easily dodged rocks he claimed she tossed in the street.

But a pan of boiling water, Palmer testified today in probate court at Dedham, was a bit too much—and he was compelled to black kick it out of her hands before she threw that at him.

That was part of Palmer's side of the story in probate court, where he, 40 years old, and Mrs. Catherine S. Palmer, both of Randolph, have cross suits for divorce.

CALLS HUSBAND CREEPY

Mrs. Palmer, from the other side, related to Judge Allen White.

"My husband hasn't been kind to me or said a pleasant word to me in two years. He never would take me any place. Instead, he tore the clothing from my back more than once, and when I left home after one of these arguments and later returned to him, I found he had given my clothes away."

"One time he pushed me down and held his knee against my heart, and said he would kill me. He knew I had heart trouble, and he said this would be a good way to get rid of me."

DENIES BEING DRUNK

"I took two revolvers that were loaded away from him when he threatened to kill me. He drank most of the time and made home brew."

Palmer had a different story, however, about the gun and liquor.

"I never was drunk," he said, "and I never hit my wife, except her or left black and blue marks on her arms."

"In July, 1928, we had a dispute over a tape measure. My wife ran upstairs, grabbed a load of revolver and fired two shots down at me, but they were wild. She wouldn't tell me what she wanted, and I shot her, but I objected."

The divorce case is still on trial.

Smoke from a fire in a restaurant on the first floor of a 5-story building at 570-572 Tremont st., South End, early today, poured through the corners of the Park Hotel and drove some 40 guests into the street.

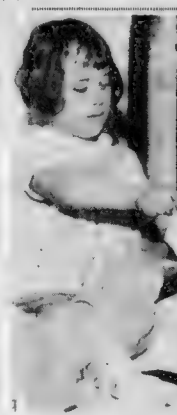

The blaze, of an unburned origin, was noticed by patrolman J. J. Barry of the East Dedham station, as he patrolled his beat. He sounded the alarm and accompanied by Patrolman J. J. Dame, rushed into the hotel.

The two officers aroused all the guests and assisted some of them to the street. Many of the guests left the building clad only in night clothing. Damage was estimated at $300.

Silent 16 Years, He Talks Self Into Jail

Fitchburg, Feb. 17.—Emil Watson, 47, an Ashby woodchopper, has always believed that what people don't know won't bother them, since that day he walked out of Fitchburg court after the clerk forgot to collect a $10 fine, 16 years ago.

Yesterday, however, Emil thought "what the hell," and he confessed 16 years of silence, as he quit chopping wood and became chatty. And that is why Judge Thomas F. Gallagher sent Emil to jail to work out the $10 he has owed so long.

44-HR. POSTAL BILL SIGNED

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Hoover today signed the bill fixing working hours for postal employees at 44 hours per week.

Announcing his approval, he said he intended to send Congress a recommendation that a commission or the regular committee of Congress investigate means of increasing postal revenue.

"At the present time," the President said, "it appears that the postoffice department will have a deficit of approximately $100,000."

"This is largely due to increase in pay and the reduction of working hours of postal employees."

It is only just to the country, he said, that there should be some means of increasing postal revenue to meet the increased expenditures.

Essex Man Dying After Auto Crash

Danvers, Feb. 17.—James W. Kellert, 60, of South Essex, was dying today at Hunt Memorial hospital from injuries sustained when he was struck on Walcott st.

He was struck by a sedan said to have been operated by Howard F. Saunders, of Beverly.

Saunders will be summoned to court today to answer charges of operating so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, police asserted.

The lodgers were prepared to seek safety in the street yesterday when fire broke out in a room nearby and William Mansson, cook in the luncheon, who sounded the alarm for yesterday's blaze, also summoned the apparatus today.

BACK BAY FIRE DRIVES OUT 17

Fire in a three-story brick building at 21 Aberdeen st., Back Bay, drove 17 persons including children, to the street early today.

Thick clouds of smoke filled the building and the occupants had difficulty in making their way to safety.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. W. Walter Morris of 13 Aberdeen st., who was awakened by the smoke. She awakened her husband, her married daughter and granddaughter and is reported fire headquarters.

The apparatus arrived to discover that the blaze was in the cellar of the building next door. On the first floor three families including seven children were driven out of the building.

On the third floor Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hart and two sons were also driven out. The second floor was unoccupied.

Blind Woman, Civil War Vet Saved in Lynn Fire

Forty roomers, including a 76-year-old blind woman and an 83-year-old Civil War veteran, were driven from the Vesta lodging house early today when fire broke out in the rear of the famous restaurant at 78 Summer st., Lynn.

Lynn police and firemen saved several of the roomers from suffocating in the lodging house upstairs.

Funeral Delayed and Wife Joins Man in Death

Long Beach, Feb. 17 (AP)—Albert E. Alexander, aged president of this place, died on Feb. 1. His wife said she would not long survive him and asked that his funeral be delayed.

She had an underlaker set made two caskets exactly alike. "We lived together 49 years," Mrs. Alexander declared, "and we will be buried together."

Soon after she slipped into a coma and remained in that condition until she died. The two caskets were placed in the same grave yesterday.

GARRETT DOY PROBE REVIVED

The investigation of reported attempts to tamper with the jury that reported a disengagement in the Garrett case was suddenly reopened today after two weeks of inactivity.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle was said to be in possession of new evidence. He called for questioning two barbers at a Dover st. (South End) shop, where, shortly after the disengagement was reported, three of the jurors are said to have appeared.

One barber admitted shaving two of the jurors.

A member of the jury appeared voluntarily at the court house today and inquired for Doyle, who conferred with him but a few minutes.

Doyle said he had sent for Frank Anastasi, the Dover st. barber, who went on the bonds of Oliver B. Garrett's wife and Miss Lillian Hach. Anastasi was to be questioned about bail money, he said.

The Dover st. shop visited by the jurymen was not Anastasi, but a nearby shop.

A Little Woe, More Joy

Julia Riley and Lillian Donovan Are Placed on Probation for Year by Court

Surprise changes in their pleas of not guilty to pleas of guilty were made at Superior Court today by Mrs. Florence Gilman, Miss Julia Riley and Miss Lillian Donovan, midwives in their trial as alleged shoplifters.

A short time later Miss Gilman, whose home is in Newton and who was charged with stealing a diamond ring, was placed on probation for one year.

The switch in pleas came after the trial had been halted because of illness of Judge Jeremiah Monahan, who was stricken last night by a heart attack at his home, 81 Fairview st.

Representative John N. Carroll of Texas, the minority leader, called attention of the House to the silver wedding of the Ohio Republican and the daughter of President Roosevelt.

Quitting permission from Speaker Longworth to speak on the floor, Carroll said 25 years ago the legislative and executive branches of the government were united in the White House in the marriage. The House members cheered.

"With you many, many happy returns of the day," the Texas member said, "the members send and gave the Speaker a hearty congratulatory message."

Arab Leader Wants Palestine Boycott

Jerusalem, Feb. 17 (INSA)—A letter, protesting Prime Minister MacDonald's "interpretation" of the Palestine White Paper as being inconsistent with the contents of the document itself, was sent to the British high commissioner today by the president of the Arab executive committee.

The Arab official stated he would demand that the executive committee decide a boycott on everything Jewish.

"Premier MacDonald has rendered any Jew-Arab understanding impossible," he concluded.

OTHER WOMEN THANEAL

The same procedure was gone through with the trial last night of Mrs. E. J. E. and Mrs. M. J. E. who were charged with the same offenses as Mrs. Gilman, and who were placed on probation for one year.

After the cases had been disposed of, Judge E. J. E. said: "I am placing you on probation, not because I think the offense is not serious, but because it is your first offense as far as I am aware. This I take into consideration, and I hope you will, too."

Both women, in unison, said "Thank you" and left the courtroom.

Julia Riley and Lillian Donovan Are Placed on Probation for Year by Court

Surprise changes in their pleas of not guilty to pleas of guilty were made at Superior Court today by Mrs. Florence Gilman, Miss Julia Riley and Miss Lillian Donovan, midwives in their trial as alleged shoplifters.

A short time later Miss Gilman, whose home is in Newton and who was charged with stealing a diamond ring, was placed on probation for one year.

The switch in pleas came after the trial had been halted because of illness of Judge Jeremiah Monahan, who was stricken last night by a heart attack at his home, 81 Fairview st.

Representative John N. Carroll of Texas, the minority leader, called attention of the House to the silver wedding of the Ohio Republican and the daughter of President Roosevelt.

Quitting permission from Speaker Longworth to speak on the floor, Carroll said 25 years ago the legislative and executive branches of the government were united in the White House in the marriage. The House members cheered.

"With you many, many happy returns of the day," the Texas member said, "the members send and gave the Speaker a hearty congratulatory message."

Arab Leader Wants Palestine Boycott

Jerusalem, Feb. 17 (INSA)—A letter, protesting Prime Minister MacDonald's "interpretation" of the Palestine White Paper as being inconsistent with the contents of the document itself, was sent to the British high commissioner today by the president of the Arab executive committee.

The Arab official stated he would demand that the executive committee decide a boycott on everything Jewish.

"Premier MacDonald has rendered any Jew-Arab understanding impossible," he concluded.

OTHER WOMEN THANEAL

The same procedure was gone through with the trial last night of Mrs. E. J. E. and Mrs. M. J. E. who were charged with the same offenses as Mrs. Gilman, and who were placed on probation for one year.

After the cases had been disposed of, Judge E. J. E. said: "I am placing you on probation, not because I think the offense is not serious, but because it is your first offense as far as I am aware. This I take into consideration, and I hope you will, too."

Both women, in unison, said "Thank you" and left the courtroom.

British R-101 Metal Going Into New Zepp

Pleasanton, Calif., Feb. 17 (AP)—The Zeppelin works here has ordered 100 tons of metal and 100 tons of wire for the new R-101, which is being built in France, and will then them down for parts of the new Zeppelin R-101.

2 IN BAY STATE WIN $48,000 ON HORSES

A dark-eyed, dark-barked girl sat only at a New Bedford mill table today and looked off at a young man who was sitting at a vacuum and can see his way clear to educating a younger sister and brother.

The New Bedford girl, Miss Mary L. Pacheco, 22, and the Lynn girl, Miss Mary L. Pacheco, 22, were holders of lucky tickets in the Army and Navy Sweepstakes drawn on the Havana Mile run last Tuesday at Havana.

Miss Pacheco was the more fortunate, however, holding a ticket on Beluga Lane, the winner, each holder winning $24,000.

KAN NO SWEETKAKES

At her hotel table today, Miss Pacheco declared that she does not intend to get excited until she has the money actually in her hand.

She went to work today at her usual time, 7 a. m., and soon her fingers were stained—also as usual—with oil from the food cleaning.

"When I get the money, perhaps I may travel," she said today. "I may take a trip around the world, although I haven't decided exactly what I will do."

And Mary has no "boy friend" she declared, and doesn't intend to start now.

Franklin, whose home is at 10 North Rhode St. in Lynn, was one of four lucky ticket holders. Miss Pacheco, third place holder, and each of these ticket holders won $12,000.

WIFE, HELP FAMILY

The cigar store clerk, one of six children of a Havana widow, said today at the shop in Lynn that he had been desirous for some time of taking a vacation but could not afford it.

Now he can go away and rest for a few weeks, he said, and will use some of the money to educate his younger sister and brother.

The Havana Mile in the Army and Navy Sweepstakes got away with a total of $1,174,768.80 in prize money at stake.

Beluga Lane, the winner, was checked off $24,000 to each of the four lucky ticket holders on the Havana Mile.

Burning Up placed, giving the four ticket holders on this horse $12,000 each.

Wins $9611

PETER J. FRANKLIN, Lynn cigar store clerk, who won $9611.56 in drawing of Army and Navy Sweepstakes on horse race in Havana.

$30,000 Sought for U. S. Polar Observers

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The House Committee on Commerce today approved a resolution to enable the United States to participate in an international program for observing polar phenomena.

The resolution, which would authorize appropriation of $30,000 for one year's observation of the Arctic region, was introduced by Representative William C. Clegg of New York.

The resolution would be recouped by parties from Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Denmark.

The United States may enjoy a station near Fairbanks, Alaska.

Law Board Silent on Senate Request

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—The law enforcement commission returned today to the state bar association, which is silent on the request.

Chairman William C. Clegg of New York, who introduced the resolution, said he was not sure if the commission would come with the Senate resolution.

The resolution would require the state bar association to report on the request to the Senate.

Dry Law Change Is Beaten in Indiana

Indianapolis, Feb. 17 (AP)—The House of Representatives of the Indiana General Assembly today rejected by vote of 80 to 45 a proposal to amend the state prohibition enforcement act to permit sale of whiskey on a physician's prescription.

Legislation for the Indiana Anti-Saloon League and W. C. T. U. were ordered off the floor of the House before debate began.

Boston Bank to Aid in Loan to Colombia

Bogota, Colombia, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Olaya Herrera announced today that an American banking group headed by the National City Bank of New York and including the First National of Boston plan loans to regional departments of Colombia after arrangements for the $20,000,000 national loan have been completed.

Dr. F. A. Bardwell Is Dead in No. Carolina

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 17 (AP)—The body of Dr. Frederic A. Bardwell, chief of physiotherapy at Owen Veterans Hospital, today was sent to his old home in Canton, Me. for burial.

He died while dressing his practice at Roxbury, Mass. Walter Reed Hospital, Washington and Fox Hill, N. Y., before affiliating with the U. S. Public Health Service in 1919.

$400,000,000 Slump in British Stocks

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Continued selling of government securities on the stock exchange has depreciated six leading government stocks more than $400,000,000 in market value within the past week.

Brokers attribute the selling to fears inspired by Chancellor Snowden's speech in which he called attention to the bad state of the country's finances.

Trolley Breaks Tie Up Beacon St. Line

Two breaks in the Boston Elevated trolley wire in Beacon St. near St. Paul St. tied up outbound traffic for more than an hour today. Buses were put into temporary service between Coolidge Corner and the Reservoir. Emergency crews were rushed to the scene when the break was reported at 7:10 a. m. and it was repaired shortly after 8:30. Inbound traffic was not affected.

$500,000 to Be Repaid to Closed U. S. Bank

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—John L. Cowen, a director of the closed Bank of United States and an uncle of Bernard M. Marcus, president, will repay $500,000 he owes the institution, he said today under questioning by Max D. Sleser, special prosecutor in an investigation of the bank's closing. Cowen borrowed the money in January, 1925, and explained he had deposited upon the sale of $300,000 worth of stock stock to repay it.

CHILDLESS WIFE ADOPTS MATE'S 'LOVE RARY'

Thyanna, Feb. 17.—The poor old adopted "love child" of her own husband is being fondled by Mrs. Antonio C. Soares of Wauquelt to day, as she goes about her duties regretting that the strange triangle in which she figures should have been given so much publicity.

Adoption of the illegitimate child was nothing more than any woman should do, in the opinion of Mrs. Soares, who, it was revealed to Barnstable probate court could not have children. And in this sympathy she has forgiven her husband and the girl in the case.

GIRL HAD GONE AWAY

The baby was the child of her husband and Mrs. Soares. Soares, a young woman who was a girl, born of the Soares family and was lived at their home several months after the child was born.

"I don't like to talk about this thing," said Mrs. Soares.

"I only did what any woman should do in such a case. But I am all over it and the girl has gone away. Such things have happened before and they will happen again. I should have been wrecked for such a cause."

Mrs. Soares who is a woman of about 40 years, said:

"NO BAD FEELINGS"

"There is something on my mind," she said, pointing to the girl, "who will punish them. If a wrong is done in the morning it will be punished by afternoon."

But I don't want to talk about this matter; too much has been said already. I have no bad feelings for anybody."

FEELING BAD?

TRY KONJOLA

This Man Did, See What He Says About New and Different Medicine.

Strange, but true in cases where all else tried has failed, Konjola has brought relief and healing. It is glorious and abundant... to suffer from ill of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, and from rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness.

Don't just wish for health... don't just hope you'll get better... get relief, secure health. How? Well, wherever Konjola has been used it is known for its power against the common ill. Wherever it is known Konjola has brought joy and happiness to sufferers. Why delay? Put Konjola to the test. What Konjola did for these happy people it can do for you.

Just read what Mr. Harry Winchester, 31 Monument Ave., Charleston, says about Konjola. Study his experience. It is just like hundreds of others that the Konjola Man at the Epstein Drug Store, Epstein's Rocalay Square, can cite. Just read these grateful words of Mr. Winchester:

"Konjola gave me relief after I had completely lost hope. After an operation last October my system was so weakened that I could hardly climb the stairs. I ate very lightly, and even then I suffered with indigestion. I was bilious, and seemed all run down. I used Konjola, and now I can eat foods that I never dreamed of eating before. There is never a sign of indigestion and once again I enjoy real health. Is it any wonder that I endorse Konjola?"

That is the kind of a medicine you need and want? See your druggist demand Konjola and get it... don't accept a substitute.

Konjola Man is at Epstein's, Rocalay Square (Epstein Drug Co.) Boston, where he is daily telling the amazing story of Konjola. Konjola is sold by all leading druggists everywhere.

ANNUAL GRAFT IN NEW YORK $50,000,000

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The "higher-ups" of a $50,000,000-a-year graft ring were being sought today following disclosures in the appellate division investigation of the magistrates' courts.

Referee Samuel Seabury was in Albany on cases in which he was named prior to his appointment to head the appellate division's inquiry.

Significance attached to the fact that a crisis was expected at the State Capital in the political lineup for passage or rejection of the Hot and Cold Water Bill in the next session of the New York City Legislature.

It would not be strange, it was said, if Seabury was consulted by party leaders there.

Belief that the annual graft collected from speculators, gambling establishments and vice resorts totals $50,000,000 was based upon the testimony of Harry Levin, police stool pigeon, who confessed he personally collected $7500 a month from a total of only 125 appearances on the upper West Side.

WHERE THEY GET IT
Conservative estimates place the number of appearances in New York City at 32,000 which, at an average of $40 a month each, as testified by Levin, would bring total yearly collections from them up to approximately $12,800,000.

Another $30,000,000, at least, is paid out by gambling establishments, it is estimated, and at least $20,000,000 more received by the "available overhead" of vice resorts.

Join the World and See the Navy

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
American Navy is off Panama practicing going to war without an appropriation.

In order to keep it a secret they are using a ship with 90,000 candle power tail lights.

The Blue Fleet is defending the canal sided by tourists with dollar cameras.

The Blue Fleet will attempt to sneak up on the canal in the dark and pick its locks.

After it is all over the admirals will stand a dinner with parachutes strapped to their backs.

They know what happens to warriors at dinners. Paris Island papers please copy.

War is war. We remember the last time the junk man dashed for the Navy Yard with sealed orders.

It's not real war. It's just the naval version of the Wickenham report.

The Black and Blue five dummy torpedoes, short black road sides and intercept each other's grenades.

The winner of the maneuvers is allowed a quick look through the silver spy glass of the Watch and Ward Society of Boston.

WHAT MAKES PEOPLE MOODY?

Did you know that our health and our mood are closely related to intestinal cleanliness?

When the system is clogged by constipation, poisons are generated. Often these bring on headaches and listlessness. You feel blue, or become irritable.

The poisons of constipation frequently aggravate nervous troubles, rheumatism, high blood-pressure and heart trouble.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's All-Bran. Two tablespoons daily are guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

Try it with milk or cream. Use in cooking too. Recipes on the red and green package. All-Bran also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BABOON BEAUTY VISITS BOSTON

A female baboon called "Meshie" and characterized by her owner, Dr. H. C. Raven of Columbia University, as "very beautiful" arrived here today on the steamship West Lackaway of the American-West African line.

Dr. Raven, a lecturer in zoology at Columbia, said "Meshie" was captured in the French Cameroons, West Africa, "Meshie" being a native nickname for baboons.

Also on board the West Lackaway which docked at East Boston, were 30 monkeys consigned to Yale University for scientific purposes, and 100 mahogany logs, some weighing five tons each.

Mrs. D. C. Love, who has spent 20 years in Presbyterian African missions, returned on the steamship with her two sons, Paul F., 12, and H. Emerson, 10.

Charges Mexicans Are Alaskan Slaves

Mexico City, Feb. 17.—The newspaper Universal Grafico today published a protest against alleged conditions of "virtual slavery," in which it says 9000 Mexicans are here in Alaska.

It is charged that Mexicans are treated for work in the mines and forests are obliged to live under inhuman conditions.

League Moves to End Narcotic Evil

Geneva, Feb. 17.—The League of Nations' opium bloc composed of nations with a financial stake in the opium business, at last has its back against the wall.

After eleven years the League's machinery has been set in motion for an international conference to limit and control the cultivation of the poppy.

Bishops for Sunday Movies in London

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Support for Sunday movie bans from an unexpected quarter today when a council of bishops and Free Church leaders proposed that picture shows on the Sabbath be placed on a sort of local opt-out system.

No Sunday operations for commercial profit and that theater owners should not work seven days a week were advocated.

THE OLD GLORY HISTORICAL PICTURE CONTESTS appearing every Sunday in the Boston Sunday Advertiser are a source of amusement and profit. Each contest is a separate one. If you have not tried one, start next Sunday. $2500 in cash... $250 each week for correctly identifying the pictures of important events in American history.

Lenten MEAL PLANNING— made easy

Lenten meal planning is a problem—and here is the solution. Serve Mueller's Macaroni, Spaghetti, Elbow Macaroni or Egg Noodles often during this season.

Mueller's Macaroni Products cook up light and fluffy—yet they are nourishing and sustaining. These tasty foods can be prepared in hundreds of appetizing ways—scores of tempting recipes may be had by simply asking for the New Mueller Recipe Book. Write to the C. F. Mueller Co., Dept. N, Jersey City, N. J.

Remember—Mueller's Macaroni Products are different. They are more healthful and more easily digestible because Mueller's Macaroni, Spaghetti and Elbow Macaroni are made from farina—the heart of the wheat. Mueller's Egg Noodles contain only selected fresh eggs and a choice blend of flour.

Be sure to say "Mueller's" when you order from your grocer. He has Mueller's or can get it for you.

Keep Clean and Fresh in Triple-Sealed, Airtight Packages

American housewives often overlook macaroni products. Follow the directions on the Mueller label and boil for nine minutes. Don't overcook—though one or two minutes more may be allowed if extra tenderness is desired.

FORTY DAYS OF LENT BEGIN TOMORROW

Ash Wednesday, tomorrow, marks the beginning of the 40 days of Lent—observed in Protestant and Catholic churches throughout the world.

Special services in all the churches, many of them to be broadcast by radio, will mark the opening of the season.

Cathedral of the Holy Cross will conduct solemn high mass at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, to be followed by distribution of ashes for children at 3 in the afternoon and for adults at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Trinity Church's program of Lenten observance will include Holy Communion at 8 in the morning, morning prayer at 11, sermon by the rector, Rev. Arthur K. Kinsolving at 12, evening prayer at 5, to be followed by a trice lecture by Rev. Otis R. Rice, and an evening sermon by Rev. William E. Gardner at 8 o'clock.

St. Mary's Church will observe noonday mass every day starting tomorrow, with evening services on Wednesdays and Fridays at 7:45 o'clock.

The following Lenten regulations were announced by Cardinal O'Connell for the guidance of Catholics in the archdiocese:

CARDINAL'S MESSAGE

All the days of Lent, except Sundays are fast days. The Lenten fast ends at noon on Holy Saturday.

All between the ages of 21 and not inclusively are obliged to fast, except the sick and convalescent, women in delicate health and condition; those to whom fasting would cause grave injury to health, or would produce such illness or exhaustion as would interfere with their daily duties; and those whose occupations are of a very laborious and exhausting nature. Those who doubt whether they are excused or not should consult their confessor.

Those obliged to fast are allowed one full meal, either at noon or in the evening.

During Lent every Wednesday and Friday, the second Saturday and Holy Saturday until noon are days of abstinence. However, by special privilege of the Holy See, working people and their families are obliged to abstain from meat only Ash Wednesday, Fridays and Holy Saturday until noon.

RULES FOR FASTING

On all days of abstinence those of the family who are obliged to fast may eat meat at their principal meal; those not at any of their meals.

The use of meat and fish at the meals may be no longer for children.

Those who are excused from fasting or abstinence during Lent should practice self-denial in some other way.

The usual Lenten devotions will be provided in all the churches of the diocese, and the faithful should endeavor by earnest prayer, heartfelt contrition and the worthy reception of the sacraments to profit by the special graces of the holy season.

The time for complying with the precept of Paschal Communion extends, as heretofore, from the first Sunday in Lent to Trinity Sunday.

3 SENTENCED IN FRAME-UP

Brookline, Feb. 17 (AP)—A Dubury couple drew jail sentences in superior court here yesterday in a plot denounced by Judge Frederick J. McLeod of Brookline as "an outrage against the sanctity of marriage."

Annie Macari was put on probation; her husband, Elso, got three months and William Macari, Dubury, drew two months. Francesco Crenonini of Plymouth said he went to the Macari home on business and Mrs. Macari got him to the bedroom, left for a moment and then returned unbidden, and that her husband and Martin came in as he was beating a nasty retreat.

Midnight Parties on U. S. Ship Foil Police

Sydney, N. S. W., Feb. 17 (AP)—Midnight parties aboard the American sailing ship Helen B. Spiering have been given much attention in the newspapers, and police say they are powerless to act because the vessel is American territory.

The vessel owns port dues and needs repairs. For these reasons it has been unable to leave for months. The personnel has been keeping the party supplied by giving entertainment aboard.

U. S. Foreign Trade Smallest in Years

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—American exports for January amounted to $260,000,000 with imports having a balance of trade favorable to the United States for the month of $70,000,000. Both imports and exports for January were the smallest in many years. A considerable portion of the decline was due to the delayed foreign shipment of cotton. The month's gold imports amounted to $24,620,000. The exports were $24,000,000.

Oldest Yale Grad Is Burned Fighting Fire

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Eliot W. Barnes, 91, possibly the oldest Yale graduate of Yale University was in the hospital today suffering from burns incurred when he attempted to extinguish a small blaze in his home yesterday.

PARAL CHARGES ARE DISPUTED BY ITALY

Rome, Feb. 17 (AP)—Official circles, while taking yesterday's criticism by Pope Pius calmly, today disputed some of the points in which the Pontiff said the government was failing to maintain the moral and religious atmosphere in Rome stipulated under the terms of the Lateran treaty.

The newspapers, which the Pope criticized as "immoral," are regarded by official Rome as among the cleanest in Europe; the movies, which the Pope also criticized, are mostly American, with some German and French, all closely censored, and there is close supervision over the vast movie industry.

As for disregard of the Sabbath, it was observed that the head of the church naturally would expect a more rigid observance than is generally to be expected from the people.

The Italian government, it was said, observes the spirit and letter of the Lateran treaty, but while protecting the interests of the Church of Rome it also must assure religious freedom of other sects. This was by way of answer to the Pope's assertion that too great freedom was permitted Protestant sects in Italy.

STATE INCOME TAXES DROPPED

A sharp drop in receipts to the Commonwealth's coffers through income taxation for 1931 is forecast by Henry F. Long, commissioner of the State Department of Corporations and Taxation. He estimates that the total returns will be at least 20 per cent less than the previous year.

Commissioner Long, incidentally, attributes the decrease in revenue to the income tax was $23,771,102.

Commissioner Long says he estimates, on the strength of present indications and conditions that the total annual revenue for this year will be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

Lillian Leitzel Had Agreed to Quit Soon

Copenhagen, Denmark, Feb. 17 (AP)—Lillian Leitzel, circus performer who died of injuries to be buried in California.

A life-size statue, her husband and himself his famous tragic star, will leave here Friday with Miss Leitzel's ashes. He has cancelled all his contracts and may never appear on a stage again. He and Miss Leitzel and her mother, it was said, had agreed that after two years, all three would go to California to live.

2 Girls Are Seized in New York Strike

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Police seized the two girls of a Communist dress workers' strike today by arresting Lillian Russ, 20, and Pearl Kustman, 22, as they were distributing Communist circulars calling upon workers to leave their jobs.

Monte Carlo Season at Height

Americans Taking Prominent Part in Merry Round of Entertainments

By RABON GEORGE WRANGLER
Universal Service Special Cable
Monte Carlo, Feb. 17.—The social life that centers about Monte Carlo these many winter days in brightening perceptibly as the fashionable season approaches its climax.

Among events of the week was a luncheon in honor of King Gustave of Sweden, given at the Hotel de Paris by Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt Barton.

The guests included Admiral and Mrs. Andrew T. Long of Washington, Grace Lady Newborough and Count and Countess Constantine. The theme of the luncheon was the former Frigate of New York.

AT OPENING OF CLUB
New night clubs are popping out in burlesque of champagne cocktails. The latest novel is "Le shik," a bolt de nuit that transports its guests to the wilds of Arabian desert. Among those who had tables for the gala opening were Mrs. Jerry Forbes Jones in a sterling gown of black tulle and sequins, and Countess De Saugny, in a black velvet gown with which she wore ropes of pearls.

Also there was Miss Georgette Lovell of New York, in a stunning creation of dark blue velvet and chiffon. She was the guest of Mrs. Joan Johnson of London, who was in white tulle.

Baroness Blakoberg was in flowered chiffon, and Lady Channing in black tulle. The evening's party of four, which included Miss Elizabeth Chapman, Miss Chapman was a pale green lace gown.

GUESTS OF ADMIRAL
Admiral and Mrs. Long are often seen entertaining friends on the Terrace Cafe in front of the Casino. The other afternoon Mrs. Long was most becomingly crowned in a white cloth sports suit with which she wore a white fox wrap. Nearby was noted Mrs. Vico Hansen in a dark green ensemble trimmed at the sleeves and around the collar in dark pony skin.

Another sea-going visitor is Capt. George W. Biele, Jr., naval attaché at the American embassy in Paris, who is here with Mrs. Biele. The fire of the morning sun often draws Mrs. Biele for a stroll among the lawns in a dark blue, well-cut tulle and silver fox.

MISS MARY WARREN AND Miss Nancy Ayer, two debutantes of this season, are sailing tomorrow from New York, accompanied by Miss Warren's mother, Mrs. Joseph Warren, for Italy, Greece and Turkey. An overland trip is planned from Constantinople to Paris, where they will spend some time. Miss Ayer is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Bourne Ayer of Milton.

MR. AND MRS. BRATTON MONTON (Louise Almy), who were recently married, have taken a house at 50 Myrtle st., Beacon Hill, for their residence.

Formal Clothes That Travel Best

By ANN ARDEN

NO MATTER how devoted you are to diaphanous tulle or crisp organdy—don't travel with them! Fabrics, like people, have to be picked carefully when they are prospective traveling companions. There is no more adducing sight in the world than a frock that emerges from a trunk looking like a squashed straw hat. And there is no more trying ordeal than traveling about with a trunk full of things which must be pressed at every unpacking.

SOMEONE REMARKED recently that at the end of a protracted European trip she had arrived at the philosophical state where wrinkled clothes no longer bothered her. We felt like replying that even being marooned on a desert island was no excuse for such a viewpoint. What fun is there in traveling about if you insist upon looking bedraggled. You can stay home and do it much less expensively!

TO RETURN to the subject of formal clothes that pack well and travel smartly, let me first call to your attention a few of the fragile look and it comes out of trunk quite undiminished. Chiffon is a good choice, too. It can be shaken out, hung up and return to its former freshness. Flat crepe and satin require more careful packing and a bit of tissue well placed will keep the wrinkles away.

THE FORMAL frocks you take away on your jaunt should not attempt the elaborate. We vote the frocks with either scarf or matching jacket the best travelers—they have a versatile manner of appearing neither too dressy nor too informal. These these frocks with short fur trimmed jackets, which are so much this rage in the South at the moment, are charming.

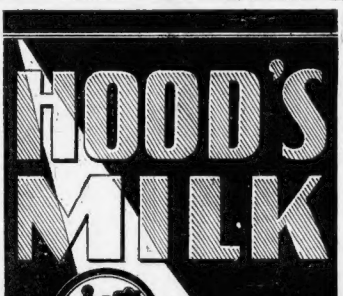

THIS WHITE CREPE evening gown pictured as a skirt of graceful fullness from fitted V section, a draped shoulder line forming V front, and very long back decollete, its folds held by "turban" clips. The separate jacket has a cowl draped center back, the fronts crossed, and held with wide bands of turquoise. The kimono sleeves, elbow length, are edged in gray fur. The bracelet is of turquoise and brilliants; and the pumps are of white tulle.

WAR MEMOIRS OF MARSHAL FOCH

PREPARATIONS TO COUNTER GERMAN DRIVE IN CHAMPAGNE

In yesterday's installment of his war memoirs Marshal Foch discussed the paramount problem of America's participation in the operations that were planned on the western front. How many United States troops could be put into action in France was the vital question. Gen. Pershing assured Foch that 100 American divisions would be in France by July, 1919, but reserved his insistence that they were to fight as an American army. Foch also told of the proposal to send American troops to Russia. In today's installment he tells of the plan for what was to become the second battle of the Marne and how he refused to be superseded by the Versailles war council.

By MARSHAL FERDINAND FOCH.

Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies During the Closing Phases of the World War

Translated from the French by Colonel T. Bentley May

BY THE MIDDLE of July, 1918, it would be seen that the time was fast approaching when the opposing forces would be sensibly equal. If the enemy did not attack, the hour had come for us to take the offensive; if he did attack, to accompany our parry with a powerful counter-stroke.

In order to give still more force to this counter-blow, on July 9, I instructed Gen. Petain to combine the offensive of the Tenth Army with another to be carried out at the same time between the Marne and Rheims.

It was to be directed against the eastern flank of the "pocket" and executed by the French Fifth Army, under the command of Gen. Berthelot.

Finally, on July 13th, I summarized these designs in a letter to the French commander-in-chief, who was tabulating distribution of his forces for the coming battle.

The first operation—blocking the enemy's advance—required forces which, for the counter-stroke, were forthcoming, but which it was still possible to increase.

In regard to the counter-offensive, which was to be the counter-attack—where "apart from his own troops," the French commander-in-chief was tabulating distribution of his forces for the coming battle.

On the afternoon of July 14 I proceeded once more to Gen. Petain's headquarters, where it was definitely decided that the French counter-offensive was to be launched as a reply to the German attack in Champagne.

The latter showed signs of being very near at hand.

The studies in preparation for this counter-attack had been going on for several weeks. The business would require four days more, especially for assembling and placing in position the various reinforcements of the front.

In order to hasten the march of events, I gave instructions for the preparations to be commenced on July 14, and on this date, the German attack in Champagne appeared to be quite imminent.

It was settled, in the course of an interview at Provins, that the counter-attack, the preparations for which would be completed on the 16th, should be launched as a reply to the enemy's offensive when it came place.

Checks Interference

Foch Refuses to Be Dictated to by Supreme Council

While our preparations were proceeding, there occurred, in the course of a meeting of the Supreme War Council, held at Versailles on July 4, one of those displays of uncertainty which soldiers invested with wide authority excite in the breasts of certain politicians.

Late that day, just as the afternoon session was about to close, Mr. Lloyd George presented a resolution, drafted in English, which was intended to limit the powers of the session and which M. Clemenceau, president of the Council of Ministers, declared that he accepted in the name of the French government.

By the terms of this resolution, the Versailles Committee made its reappearance on the scene, and the military representatives, who formed their right of control, if not of initiative, over the plans for the operations of the Allied Armies. The result was to deprive the commander of these armies of all independence in establishing these plans and of all freedom in their execution.

As soon as the document could be translated and I could study the import, the gravity of which appeared to have escaped the negotiators.

What can be done with Life Insurance

(5) Guaranteed Education for the Children

COLLEGE education, which was once considered a luxury, later became an advantage, and is today a necessity. In the average family, the question arises, how to ensure for the children this important preparation for life? The answer is simple: by securing a Life Insurance policy. The best time to begin is when the children are young and the rate of premium through LIFE INSURANCE can be secured at a low rate of interest.

ignoring fire and surprised by the number of which were unmarked for the first time.

Nevertheless he proceeded with the execution of his plan. At the hour fixed his artillery opened, and between 4:15 and 4:30 a. m. the German infantry moved to the assault along the whole front 5 miles between Chateau Thierry and Meuse, with the exception of the Rheims salient. Gen. Foch's plan was to contain the German offensive, forcing the center of the attack to the Fifth Army, the enemy had made rapid progress between the Marne and the Aisne in the general direction of Epinal, forcing the center of the attack (French V Corps and Italian II Corps) back up on its second position.

At the same time he renewed the Marne and west of the Marne, drove in the advanced posts holding the south bank of the river and established a bridgehead following the general line Marquilly-Port-Comme-Agnas-Fosse, where the left of the Fifth French Army and the right of the Sixth were posted.

To meet these attacks the reserve of the various armies and almost all the divisions in general reserve, had been engaged during the day of the 15th.

Thus, the German offensive, though definitely stopped along the front of our Fourth Army, had gained undoubted successes on the front of the Fifth Army and at its junction with our Sixth Army. Here it had succeeded in breaking our front and even in crossing the Marne at Dormans.

Need for Haste
Two Days More Needed to Prepare His Blow

Was this partial advantage going to be the precursor of an advance sufficiently deep and executed rapidly enough to bring trouble to our adjacent lines of defense and prevent us from carrying out our program? Was it going to divert from our counter-offensive, whose preparation still required two more days?

In the forty-eight hours still required to complete the preparations for our counter-offensive, a decision of the battle he had engaged.

On the other hand, once this delay was ended, we could attack him. Unquestionably, and in force; in a word, under conditions which would not only neutralize his advantages, but even to render them disastrous.

BUICK MOTOR COMPANY
DIVISION OF GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION
FLINT, MICHIGAN

February 7, 1931

Dear Buick Owner:

Because of its importance, we decided to inform you now that the present line of 1931 Buick Straight Eights will not be replaced by new models this summer.

But, as you know, has introduced its new cars on August 1st, year after year. But inasmuch as these new Straight Eight models have met with such spontaneous approval by thousands everywhere, Buick has decided to continue manufacturing the present Eights throughout the summer and coming fall.

This is mighty good news to thousands of Buick owners because they will buy new Buicks now with the knowledge that there will be no model change next summer.

They will find in these new Buicks a degree of performance that is certain to give them a genuine thrill. All have the safe, silent-shift Synchro-Mesh transmission. All have Valve-in-Head Straight Eight engines. And all have the famous insulated bodies by Fisher.

So well has the 1931 line been received that, out of every 100 sights sold in Buick's price class, 56 are Buicks.

May we suggest that you drive the Eight as Buick Builds It. Your Buick dealer will be very glad to have you take the wheel and learn at first hand how very much Buick Straight Eight performance adds to the joy of motoring.

Very truly yours,
BUICK MOTOR COMPANY
